WHY CHOOSE ENGLISH FOR LIFE ACADEMY?

"Hey Kim, just thought I'd drop you a line to let you know that I am teaching and loving it! I started teaching a week after we arrived in Cambodia. You were right. I had no trouble finding a job. In fact, I had several offers and could choose which one I liked best! It's a great motivation to keep learning Khmer and to use a lot of techniques that Debbie and Catherine taught us in class. Actually, I've met a few other English teachers that are not TESOL certified and hearing their stories has made me very grateful for your class!"

*- Emily Crowley, English for Life graduate
English Teacher, Cambodia*

If you're ready to teach abroad, we're ready to help you get there. From learning what to do in the classroom to writing a resume that gets you noticed, we're with you all the way.

Expert Training

120 hours of interactive instruction, with actionable lessons to prepare you to teach English anywhere in the world. And through our partnerships with The College of Charleston, you know that our TESOL certificate program has been selected and approved by accredited universities. Our courses are re-approved every 3 years, and are correlated to the Teaching and Learning Standards and all academic standards of the College of Charleston.

Practical Experience

A 30-hour practicum which involves observing, tutoring, working with mentor ESL instructors, and teaching real English classes with one of our community partners. 🖐️ or around the world. Why? It's time to take everything you learned and put it into practice...while getting the invaluable experience employers are looking for.

WHY CHOOSE ENGLISH FOR LIFE ACADEMY?

"I always knew your class would prepare me for a life abroad, but never realized the positive implications it would have helping me secure a job in the states! After a month working as a cultural mentor and English teacher for Chinese international students, I couldn't be happier or be more fulfilled. It IS possible to get paid doing what you love, and I don't have to travel to get my intercultural fix either! Thank you so much for being an amazing role model and teacher."

- Caroline Cornish, English for Life graduate
Student Advisor, New Mind at
NC State University

Professional Resources

At the beginning of the course, you will receive access to our website efllearningcenter.com with resources and information to guide you through the course and beyond. And even as an alumni you will have access to the materials, updates, and additions as we grow. Are you looking for a job overseas? Use our collection of international job resources and our database of international schools to get you started.

Personal Mentoring

Did we mention our amazing faculty? English for Life Academy's instructors 🖐️ and community partner agencies 🖐️ have teaching, training, and coaching experience within the community and around the world. They love to help you make connections, access the information you need, and help you to reach your personal and professional goals.

They're also just fun people, and you'll love their stories about the glories and mishaps of their adventures around the world.

WHY CHOOSE ENGLISH FOR LIFE ACADEMY?

"Hello, greetings from Brazil! It's been almost five months now and I am loving Sao Paulo, learning Portuguese, and teaching English! I work in fancy buildings with coffee machines that make any sort of espresso drink you want on every floor. I feel that I've come such a long way and owe so much to both of you. I wanted to thank both of you for your encouragement. Truly, if I hadn't met you, I might still be in Greenville wondering what I'm doing with my life. Thank you!"

*- Meg Pierson, English for Life graduate
English Teacher, Sao Paulo, Brazil*

Job Connections

Are you looking for a job in the community where you're taking your TESOL Certification Course? Most of our instructors work as English Language teachers in the community, and your practicum experience connects you with other schools and institutions that may be hiring. Our graduates are at the top of the hiring list of all of our practicum partners.

Looking for work overseas? Use our database of schools and collection of international employment resources to get you started. Connect with our graduates to find out about their current overseas jobs. Ask us for a letter of recommendation, and work up a resume with our professional resume coach that will get you noticed.

Our graduates find jobs teaching all around the world. So will you.

And even after you've graduated, you'll stay in touch with our community of alumni around the globe through our private facebook community.

More than just a certificate.

English for Life Academy delivers the expert training, practical experience, professional resources, personal mentoring, and job connections that will get you a job overseas and give you confidence in the classroom.

Upon successfully completing the program, you'll receive your International TESOL Certificate — and so much more. You'll have:

- ✓ The tools, resources, and ability to facilitate a dynamic English language class anywhere in the world
- ✓ 6 Graduate Credits through our partnership with the College of Charleston
- ✓ Your pick of some of the most exciting TESL/TEFL teaching jobs at home and abroad

TESOL COURSE DESCRIPTION

We love language and culture, teaching and learning. We're serious about what we do, and we're serious about making it fun and accessible to YOU. Our TESOL certificate course is packed with everything you need to know to teach English. Information, techniques, and strategies, all organized in a way that is practical, fun, and ready to use.

Here's what you'll learn

TESOL Theory and Methodology

The course starts by exploring the following questions: Who are my students? How do they learn? How do I best teach them? How do I communicate with them if they don't speak English? By the end, you'll be able to critically evaluate, adapt, and apply your new knowledge to whatever teaching situation you find yourself in.

Topics include: the profession of English language teaching, culture & diversity, learner variables, ELT models & methodologies, second language acquisition, communicative language teaching, intake and needs assessments, English grammar review

"I would walk Main Street wearing sandwich boards for your class. I tell everybody about it. The things I learned in the course have completely transformed the way I work with students, as well as the way I prepare.

Classes have become more diverse in the media used, in the use of pairs and teams, in the applications of themes to classes or series of classes, and in my own level of security."

- Debbie Spear, English for Life graduate Teacher Trainer, English for Life Academy, Greenville, SC

The Principles of Language Teaching

In this module you'll learn: How do I teach everything my students need to learn in a way that is understandable, engaging, interactive, and actually improves their English communication? When you finish this module, you'll have techniques, tools, and experience teaching all aspects of language.

Topics include: teaching techniques and strategies for teaching speaking, listening, reading, writing, vocabulary, pronunciation, and grammar

Instructional Design in the Student-Centered Classroom

In the last part of the course, you'll learn everything you need to know to make informed decisions in the classroom. The focus is to create an environment in which learning can take place through cooperative, communicative, student-centered techniques.

Topics Include: lesson planning, classroom management, finding and creating materials and resources, fieldtrips, cooperative learning and grouping strategies

Teaching Practicum

This is where you put it all into practice. The teaching practicum is your opportunity to practice and critically reflect on everything you learned, as well as develop your own teaching skills as you prepare for future jobs and assignments. The practicum is supervised and assessed by the English for Life Practicum Supervisor in conjunction with an assigned classroom teacher. It's the experience all employers are looking for!

"Kim, after 3 weeks here (in Beijing) I've had a chance to notice the teachers and teaching styles and feel very fortunate that I took your TESOL courses. They were excellent preparation. Even though --- is a good company, I feel better prepared than some of the teachers they have here, especially in terms of cultural sensitivity and positive feedback. Keep up the good work!"

- Keith Bernard, English for Life graduate English Teacher, Beijing, China

Upcoming Courses

Hello Friend,

Have you ever fantasized about packing up and living your life abroad? A kind of permanent vacation from average, normal, and boring?

Think that's a nice dream but it could never happen?

Think again!

Teaching English is how you can do it.

I know you want to experience life beyond your daily routine now:

- ✓ Traveling the world and having amazing experiences every day
- ✓ Making a real, permanent difference in the lives of those you touch
- ✓ Getting "unstuck" from a job you've outgrown and deciding to try something new
- ✓ Spending time in a place you've always wanted to explore

Believe me, I know the feeling.

You're thinking:

"It's time to do something different with my life. I'm not really sure how I want my life to look a year from now, but I know I want more adventure, more travel, more challenge, and more fun. I want to connect with fascinating people, and I know it's time to do something that feels satisfying at the end of the day."

You can have this life. You can make it happen.
I did, and it made all the difference in the world. Literally.

When I graduated from college, I knew I wanted to travel, to explore, and to actually make a contribution in this world, but I had no idea how to make that happen. My previous travel had left me with a wanderlust to see and do more, and not just on a 2-week vacation from my corporate job.

But life doesn't offer "study abroad" semesters, and I had student loans to pay back.

I was taught that smart, educated people settle down. Get a job. Buy a house. Start saving for retirement. Apparently something was wrong with me. I had other ideas, and I didn't see how I could live my dream and be a responsible adult at the same time.

After a lot of trial and error, I discovered that teaching English was the door that opened a whole world of multicultural teaching adventures. It connected me with travel, job security, and the connection with like-minded people that I wanted to meet and learn from.

I realized I could earn enough money to pay those student loans and start saving.
I was rewarded every single day with evidence of the difference I was making in people's lives.

And it was the most perfect resume builder I could imagine...I learned confidence, new skills, a profession, and had evidence that I was the independent, flexible, problem-solving, well-traveled, organized...even bilingual!... person I wanted to be.

Training English speakers to be English teachers and watching as people like you get hired at teaching jobs around the world has been the most rewarding part of my work in teaching and training.

That's why I'm excited to offer the English for Life TESOL Certificate course. It's my chance to work one-on-one with you as you develop the skills and resources you need to teach English, at home or abroad.

That's how my dream became my life's work.

And it can be yours, too.

Act now on what you dream about... because whole world is waiting for you.

Cheering you forward,

Kim Carroll
